Jacob Kamp (1971) II

Jacob Kamp has 13 years of experience as a project manager, both in conceptual sketching and design detailing. When working for Vilhelm Lauritzen Architects he had the responsibility for such significant landscape projects as DR Byen (Danish Broadcasting Network) in Ørestad and the Biogen Idec headquarters in Hillerød. Since 2004 Jacob has been self-employed and has made his mark on the Danish landscape architecture scene with several prize-winning competitions and projects. Jacob has extensive experience with managing projects throughout every phase, and assures high architectonic value, innovative and creative solutions, a good team spirit, and will ensure that each project's resources are fully utilized.

Trine Trydeman (1972) II

Trine Trydeman has 12 years of experience from offices in Denmark and abroad. When working for Schönherr Landskab she was the project manager for the landscape division of the MAERSK headquarters expansion in Copenhagen, the art museum Fulgsang in Lolland, and the planning of the new neighborhood 'Artillerivej Syd' in Copenhagen. As a partner at 1:1 landskab, Trine has in recent years gained extensive experience within design of educational areas, and consistently assures a high architectonic quality and a good working relationship with the client.

1:1 landskab (2007) II

1:1 landskab aps is a dynamic danish landscape architectural firm founded in Copenhagen in 2004. The owners, Jacob Kamp and Trine Trydeman both graduated as landscape architects from University of Copenhagen, in 1998 and 1999, respectively. The company is working with a wide range of landscape projects from private gardens to private and public spaces in cities, as well as larger planning projects. The firm also has experience in process-related projects such as planning of workshops.

We believe in the landscape as an essential value-adding component of any existing and new human habitation. We strive for pragmatic and poetic solutions, focussing on luxuriance, simplicity and contrast. We strive for simple modern landscape architecture. Based on the qualities of the site and through a reinterpretation of the modern Nordic tradition, we fashion honest, rugged and durable solutions. We believe in the personal relation and good collaboration with clients, architects, engineers and contractors, and involve other professionals such as artists, biologists and sociologists as well as the users, to find the right solution for a given project.

We have extensive experience with all phases of a project, from the first draft to the final site inspection, and thus are able to ensure a high and consistent quality.
