

University of Natural Resources and Life Sciences, Vienna

Centre for Development Research

featuring
BOKU's citizen science group

Luca Fazzolari - flickr - BY-NC-SA

Citizen Science

Scientists: socially challenged coffee-addicts in ivory towers.
You don't agree? Neither do we. Citizen science now!
Join the event with Anna Lawrence.

Anna Lawrence has studied botany, before specializing in participatory forest management. She has worked in Bolivia, India, the Philippines, Nepal and many other countries. Anna has headed socio-economic research at the UK Forestry Commission from 2007-2015, and has shared her experiences and knowledge with students in Wageningen, Reading, and Oxford. She is now honorary professor of Human Dimensions of Forestry at the University of the Highlands and the Islands, UK.

Wednesday, 5th April 2017, 18:00 - 19:30

Oskar-Simony-Haus, ground floor, lecture hall "EG03"

Peter-Jordan-Straße 65, 1190 Vienna

Free admission - please register:
rosana.kral@boku.ac.at

Jointly organized with

InFER | Institute of
Forest, Environmental, and Natural Resource Policy

 AUSTRIAN DEVELOPMENT
AGENCY