Drift into a cloud-soft sleep

The Henriette Stadthotel can be recommended without reservation, here the guest still feels like a guest. You can feel the “family business”, a huge difference to impersonal hotel chains. The staff is friendly, courteous and always ready to help. The rooms are great - I have never slept so well in a hotel bed. The Prater is practically around the corner, as is the nearest subway station. My recommendation: visit!

> Hospitality is very important here! All the people in the hotel are unspeakably friendly and courteous, you are actually treated like a guest and not just like a customer! Even extra requests (longer use of the parking lot) were fulfilled easily and free of charge.
