THE SECTIONS

We invite papers to the following sections:

The RESEARCH section

■ publishes original scientific research papers on environmental and sustainability research. Additionally, the Research section contains review articles that place environmental problems and development in a broader context. All contributions undergo a double-blind peer review.

The FORUM section

■ publishes original discussion papers, pointed expressions of opinion, and reactions to articles that have appeared in recent GAIa issues. As such, the Forum section aims to challenge current understandings by providing a "forum" to articulate substantiated opinions, to debate controversial issues, and to identify emerging problems.
